ITALY IN WAR AGAINST TEUTON ALLIES

GERMANY TO CHANGE HER WAR PLANS

Entrance of Italy in Conflict to South, May Compel Other Tactics

SHORTENING WEST FRONT

Reported Evacuation of Bruges Said to Be a Part of This Movement—Official Announcement From Petrograd is the Most Optimistic That Has Been Issued for a Fortnight.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, May 24.—After being virtually in a state of war for several days with her former partners in the triple alliance, Italy, beginning today, ratifies this condition by a declaration of hostilities directed at Austria-Hungary with all the usual formalities. Furthermore, Germany is reported to have indicated her support of Austria-Hungary by a formal declaration of war against Italy.

The general mobilization of the Italian army and navy is said to have been completed, and a state of war has been declared throughout the northern provinces of Italy.

On the Austrian side of the line, martial law has been declared in the Trentino; the age limit for military service has been raised to 50 years and stringent measures have been taken to control the Italian population of the dual monarchy.

Demonstrations enthusiastically approving the war are reported from all parts of Italy, while on the other hand Vienna has offered the warmest support of the people to the government in the operations against the new enemy.

The latest official announcement given out at Petrograd is the most optimistic issued for a fortnight past. It not only indicates a pause in the Austro-German advance along the River San, but claims that the Russians have adopted counter offensive operations with some measure of success.

Although not confirmed from any official source, reports are published here that Germany, faced with Italy as new foe in the south, will have to shorten her western line and that consequently she is preparing to withdraw her men from the advanced line in Flanders.

The reported evacuation of Bruges is said to be part of this movement.

Turkish Gunboat Sunk By Submarine

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Constantinople, May 23.—(By wireless to Berlin and London, May 24.—An official statement issued tonight by the Turkish general staff, said:

"The 25-year-old gunboat Palenk-Deria was sunk this afternoon by a hostile submarine. Two members of the crew were killed but all the others escaped without injury."

Western Nations Should Be Consolidated To Preserve World's Peace, Says McAdoo

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, May 24.—Continental solidarity of the nations of the western hemisphere with uniform laws on many subjects not only for the purpose of advancing their material interests but that they may have a commanding place in preserving the peace of the world, was the theme dwelt upon today by Secretary McAdoo in his address of welcome to the delegates to the Pan-American Financial conference.

Mr. McAdoo declared that the present conference was called from no selfish or sordid motive or desire for gain, but to see how best the republics of this hemisphere "representing common ideals of liberty, justice and self-government," may through common action and interest, "conserve their welfare and become a more homogenous and powerful moral force for the preservation of peace and the good of humanity." To attain this end, the secretary said, it was necessary to consider the material basis, to obtain a

Austria-Hungary Begins Hostilities By Aerial Attacks on Italian Seaports; This Fact Gives Rome a Sense of Relief

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Rome, May 24.—(Via Paris).—The news of the aerial attacks on Italian seaports and the aggression of Austrian warships on the eastern coast of Italy was received in Rome with a sense of relief for the reason that it showed hostilities had been opened by Austria-Hungary. It is evident that the Italian people are standing firm and there are many indications of their discipline and high spirits. Even those who for reasons of principle are opposed to war have asked to be permitted to serve their country in the ranks of the Red Cross.

A THICK LAYER VOLCANIC MUD BURIES FARMS

EXPLOSION SATURDAY SENT A RIVER OF LAVA FROM LASSEN PEAK

Families in Hat Creek Valley, California, Flee for Their Lives to the Cities.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Redding, Calif., May 24.—Their farms buried by Lassen Peak, under a thick layer of volcanic mud which has solidified into an impervious hard pan, refugees from Hat Creek valley said today they had no intention for the present at least of returning to their homes. The menace of the volcano, they said, made life too precarious in the valley.

Sixteen families fled from the valley when Saturday's explosion sent a river of mud and lava down the mountainside. They found refuge in Burney, a hamlet, far removed from the danger zone.

Lassen was reported to have been in eruption again last night, but owing to cloudy skies, the outbreak was not generally observed.

From small towns in the shadow of the mountain word came today that great excitement prevailed. Fall Rivers, one of the villages was subjected to a heavy fall of ashes.

W. J. Rushing, forest supervisor, reported that the forestry bureau's meadow near Lassen Peak was buried deep in volcanic substance. The service station was destroyed by huge rocks thrown upon it.

Hat Creek, which went dry yesterday for the first time in years, as a result, it was reported, of being dammed by volcanic mud, was running today with a small stream of muddy water.

George Roadman, of Sacramento, who witnessed Saturday's eruption from a distance of 20 miles, said:

"The eruption was preceded by a rumbling and roaring. It sounded like a thousand hailstorms rolled into one. The huge pall of smoke appeared to hang almost over me. Big boulders were thrown hundreds of feet in the air.

"When the eruption was at its height a sharp earthquake shook the earth and terrorized the villagers at Burney. They realized the imminent danger at once and began preparations to rescue the people in the endangered region."

Liamma volcano, on the west coast of Cook Inlet, is a peak 12,066 feet high. It has been known as an active volcano since the earliest records of the Spanish and American explorers, but its eruptions never have been violent. The district around Liamma is virtually uninhabited.

There has been no violent outbreak in the range since June 9, 1912, when Mount Katmai burst into spectacular eruption, covering fertile Kodiak Island and the adjacent mainland under a deep layer of volcanic ash.

680,000 Austro-Germans On the Italian Frontier

The Hague, May 24.—(Via London).—From information reaching The Hague, it is understood that the Germans and Austrians have concentrated approximately 680,000 men on the Italian frontier. They have occupied strategic positions in order to meet an attack or to attempt to strike the first heavy blow in an endeavor to dishearten the new combatants at the beginning of the campaign.

The Germans constitute the larger part of this force, which is made up of 31 divisions of approximately 20,000 men each. Only 10 of these divisions are Austrians.

Military Leaders of Italy, Now In War.

Italy is now in the war, and the brother of the king, the Duke D'Abruzzi, will lead the fleet, while General Cadorna, chief of staff, will lead the army. The duke is well known to Americans because of his attempt to wed the daughter of a millionaire member of the United States senate. He didn't wed because the royal family would not think of permitting American blood to be mixed with royalty, and he did not make up his mind to defy his royal relatives.

Germans Allege the Signals For Massacres In Belgium Often Given by Church Bells

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, May 24.—(By Wireless to Sayville, N. J.) Included in the information given out today by the Overseas News Agency is the following:

"The German government has published a White Book concerning the warfare of the civilian population of Belgium, hostilities which included the shooting of troops, the throwing of boiling water, the maiming of the wounded and the assassination of officers in their quarters at night. The time of these occurrences and the names of witnesses are given. All classes of the population, including clergymen, women and children, participated in this aggression. The signal for the beginning of ten was given by church bells. All the German measures at Louvain and other Belgian towns were only for the purpose of suppressing these attacks.

APPEAL MADE TO ITALIANS IN NEW YORK

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, May 24.—A call to all Italian citizens and American citizens of Italian birth to enroll here for service in the Italian army was published in the newspapers of that language here today. It was signed by G. Fanti, the Italian consul general, and was addressed to all men between the ages of 19 and 29, inclusive.

The military law of Italy holds that all men of Italian birth in this country are subject to call for service in the army, regardless of whether they have taken out citizenship papers in the United States. Penalty for refusal to obey the call is imprisonment in the event of later return to Italy.

It was estimated that there are 125,000 Italians in this city, 4000 of whom have already offered their services.

OHIO ITALIANS WAITING CALL.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cincinnati, May 24.—Italian citizens of Cincinnati and southern Ohio were awaiting the call to the colors today. Many of them went to the office of Italian Consul Charles Gnocchi, but he had not yet received any official notice. It is likely the first word will come from County Julius Bolognesi, consul general at Chicago.

The Italian military age is 19 years to forty, and within those boundaries in Cincinnati and Southern Ohio are 15,000 Italians under the charge of the Cincinnati consulate.

AEROPLANES OF AUSTRIAN ARMY ATTACK VENICE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Rome, May 24.—Via Paris.—Official announcement was made here today that Austrian aeroplanes have attacked the governmental arsenal at Venice. The aeroplanes were driven off.

Porto Corsini, Ancona, Barletta and Gessi also were attacked.

It is apparent from the foregoing dispatch that Austrian aeroplanes have swept virtually the entire eastern coast of Italy. From Venice at the head of the Adriatic, they have made their way as far south as Barletta, a distance of 350 miles, committing acts of hostility during their progress. Barletta is 125 miles north of the Strait of Otranto, the southern entrance to the Adriatic.

Granted that the aeroplanes started from Trieste or Pola, they did not have more than 80 or 90 miles to travel to reach Venice.

Driven away here they would appear to have turned south. Porto Corsini is the seaport of Ravenna and about 68 miles south of Venice. Ancona is another seaport on the Adriatic, 185 miles northeast of Rome and about 140 miles south of Venice in an air line.

RUSSIAN BATTLESHIP LOST WITH HER CREW OF 1400

According to Report—The Italian Situation is Now of Supreme Moment, and is the One Absorbing Topic In All the Capitals of the World—Large Number of Men Under Arms Makes Shortage of Workmen, and Women Are Doing the Work of Men, In Some Cities Being Employed On Street Cars.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Rome, May 24.—(Via Paris).—Enthusiastic demonstrations in favor of the war continue throughout Italy. In Florence, Venice, Genoa, Milan, and the other large centers; crowds throng the streets cheering for the king and the army.

Most of the members of the chamber of deputies have volunteered for service in the army or navy. The son of Lieutenant-General Cadorna, chief of staff, is a lieutenant in the same cavalry regiment which his grandfather commanded in the war of 1866 against Austria. General Cadorna's daughter, a nun in a convent at Florence, has applied for admission to the Red Cross.

Owing to the large number of men now under arms, there is a shortage of workmen. Most employers have promised the workmen that their places will be restored on their return from military service and that in the meantime, provision will be made for their families.

In some cases women are doing work formerly performed by men. In several cities women are employed on street cars.

AUSTRIAN SHIPS PRIZES OF WAR.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

AUSTRIAN FLEET ATTACKS ITALIAN COAST.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, May 24.—An attack by Austrian warships on the eastern coast of Italy, along the Adriatic, is announced in an official communication from the Italian war office, transmitted to Paris by the correspondent of the Havas agency. It is said the Austrian warships were forced to withdraw after a short cannonade.

RUSSIAN BATTLE SHIP REPORTED SUNK.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, May 24.—(By wireless to Sayville).—The Overseas News Agency today gave out the following:

"According to a Bucharest dispatch the Russian armored man of war Wynteleimon has been sunk, with 1400 men in the Black Sea."

The foregoing evidently refers to the Russian battleship Pantelimon. This warship, whose destruction is said to have caused the loss of 1400 lives, is put down in naval reference books as having a complement of about 740 men. In times of war, however, this number might be increased considerably.

The Pantelimon was built in 1897. She was 378 feet long. Her displacement was 12,582 tons. She carried four 12-inch guns; sixteen 6-inch; four 3-inch, six 3-pounders and five torpedo tubes.

Vivid Description Given Of Lusitania's Sinking By Survivor Arriving Today

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, May 24.—A vivid description of the sinking of the Lusitania torpedoed May 7 off the Irish coast, was given here by Dr. Carl E. Foss of Harlem, Mont., a survivor, who reached New York today aboard the steamer New York from Liverpool.

"From the deck of the Lusitania I saw a submarine about a mile away at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon," Dr. Foss said. "I borrowed a pair of glasses and through them saw the submarine plainly, although I could not make out its nationality or number. It was traveling at the same speed as the steamer—we were going very slowly—and left a white wake of foam."

"The Lusitania's officers must have seen the submarine at the same time, for the course of the steamer was changed. The submarine was submerged after staying on the surface about five minutes. Forty minutes later the torpedo struck."

There was some little excitement on deck, but no panic. The steamer tipped to one side. I was about to jump

Home or Abroad.

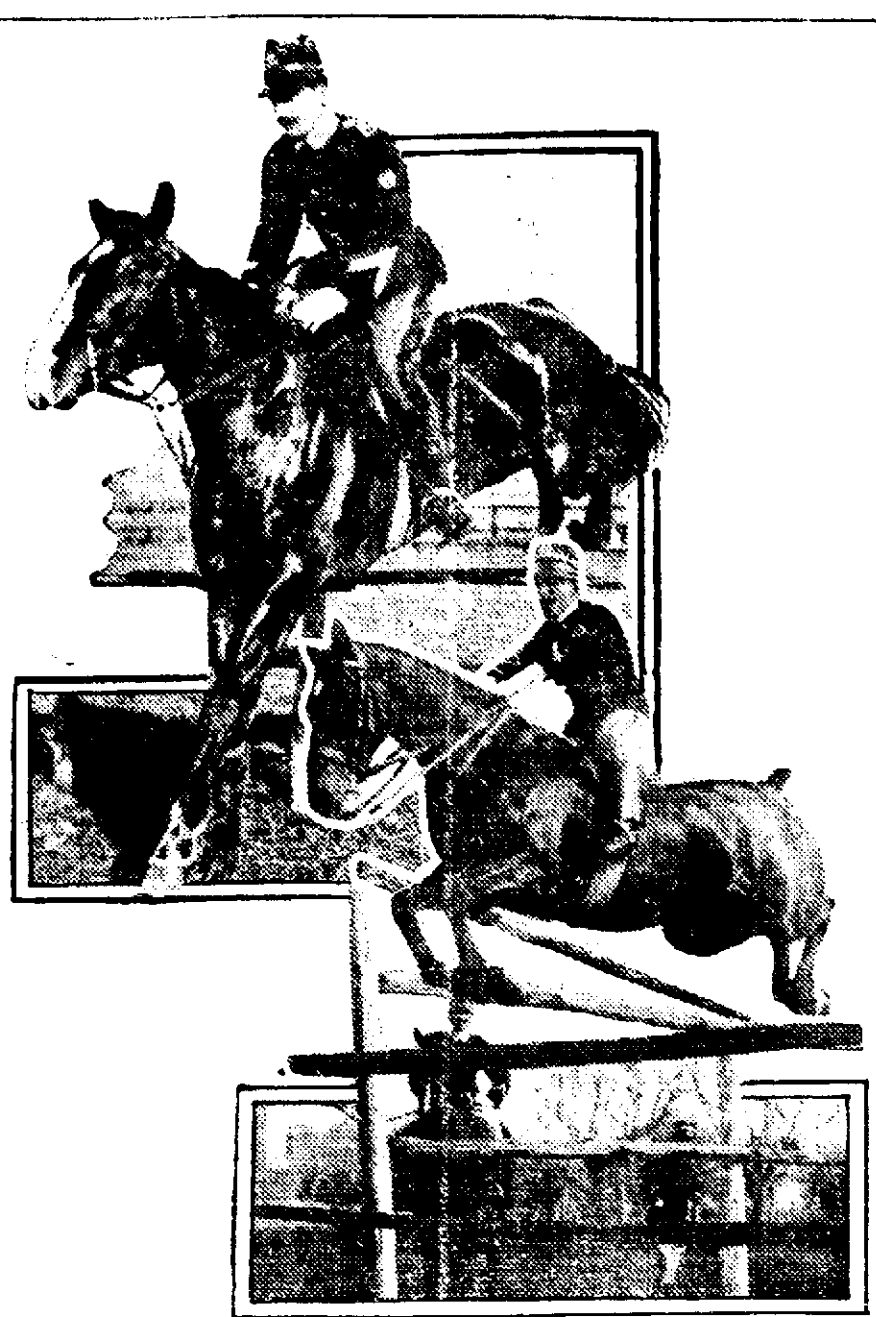

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Rome, May 23. (Via Paris, May 24.)—Details concerning Italy's declaration of war against Austria-Hungary were given by Foreign Minister Sonnino this afternoon at a cabinet council which lasted three hours. He told also of communications sent to the allies and to neutral nations. Diplomatic relations between the Vatican and the belligerents also were discussed.
Baron Sonnino referred particularly to the relations between Italy and Germany, expressing the belief that the latter would declare war as soon as official information was received regarding Italy's action against her ally. The council did not consider the military questions, as they have been entrusted entirely to the general staff, which will work in harmony with the commanders of the allies' forces. Financial measures were taken up and, it is believed, a loan will be floated either at home or abroad sufficient to meet the needs of the nation even though the war lasts longer than is expected.
A royal decree has been published, providing for a rigid censorship. Authority is given to censor letters, newspapers, telegrams, telephone messages and parcel post packages. The decree also restricts personal liberties, especially as regard public meetings. The measure resembled those already adopted in the belligerent countries.

Italian Officers Practising Jumping

The war nations arrayed against Italy will find they must fight what is considered by military men the best cavalry in Europe. These photographs indicate the practice officers of the Italian cavalry must take due north, into what is known as the Pinedale country on the head waters of Green river. Here one can view the inaccessible peaks, the great rocky ranges, the lakes, rivers and mountain streams scattered in nature's lavish way all over western Wyoming. The Tetons to the northwest, the Big Horns to the north, the great Continental Divide to the east, and the Wind river mountains to the west, with their waters teeming with fish. This is also a fine country for big game, especially the elk. The object of my trip here is to look over the new irrigation project known as the Fremont Land company. This particular point is known as the East Fork Irrigation company, and has been granted a Carey Act segregation by the state and federal governments. This means that the company is allowed to sell perpetual water rights to the settler and allow them to secure land under this project. Any woman, 21 years of age, who is the head of a family, may also file. Each person is entitled to 160 acres. The principal crops are alfalfa, wheat, barley, oats, sugar beets and potatoes. No corn or fruit to speak of as the altitude is too high, being about 7000 feet here. I am thinking of locating 160 acres, therefore, I may move up here and take root. I notice in your daily a short sketch by Darius Earl Matson, informing the readers of The Advocate of an attractive little volume entitled, "Old Buckeye Days." Kindly advise me where I may be able to secure a copy of this beautiful little book. With best wishes to The Advocate, and my old Licking county friends in general, I am

AFTER DECLARATION

"Down With Traitorous Italy," Was the Cry During Street Parades and Meetings.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Amsterdam, Via London, May 24.—Patriotic manifestations reached a climax in Vienna last night, according to a telegram received here from the Austrian capital. After Italy's declaration of war and the manifesting of Emperor Francis Joseph, calling upon the army, navy and all his people for patriotic devotion had been published in special editions about 9 o'clock, crowds gathered spontaneously in all parts of the city.

Thousands of residents paraded the streets singing patriotic songs and cheering the emperor, the monarchy, the allied army and navy. Before the war, military patriotic speeches were delivered. Officers and soldiers were greeted with tremendous applause. Indignation against Italy found expression in cries of "Down with traitors; down with Italy." No attacks upon Italians were made, however.

The town council of Trieste has been dissolved by the emperor, as that city is subject only to the imperial government. The governor of Trieste, in turn, has dissolved the town council of Gorizia.

The Prague newspaper Narodni Politika, discussing editorially the entrance of Italy into the war, says: "The monarchy has no fear of the war which it will undergo victoriously and gloriously with all the more certitude because of the loyal assistance of Germany."

The Hlas Narodni of Prague declares the people of Austria and Hungary prefer a passage at arms with Italy to an untrustworthy and untenable friendship purchased with very heavy sacrifices.

FILLING THE NEED.

The company marched so poorly and went through their drill so badly that the captain, who was of a somewhat excitable nature, shouted indignantly at the soldiers:

"You knock-kneed, big-footed idiots, you are not worthy of being drilled by a captain. What you want is a rhinoceros to drill you, you wretched lot of dorks!"

Then, sheathing his sword, indignantly, he added: "Now, lieutenant, you take charge of them!"—Tit-Bits.

The Sword of Italy.

(By W. H. Alburn.)

Never, perhaps, was a nation's sword laid in the balance at a more crucial time than that of Italy has been. At a moment when the two groups of combatants have seemed to be grappling in futile deadlock, with the prospect of continuing so indefinitely to their own great disaster and the misfortune of the whole world, Italy may turn the scale of war, and hasten the end.

At any rate, her participation is bound to have great effect, and to be felt immediately. She brings to the aid of the allies an army better prepared than any other that has yet been engaged, with the exception of the German army that invaded Belgium and France. The Italians are good material, to begin with. Their fame has suffered somewhat from their disaster in Abyssinia twenty years ago, and from their early reverses in Tripoli; but temperament may partially excuse those failures, just as temperament now tends to Italy's advantage. The same Italians who could not understand why they were fighting Abyssinians or Arabs or negroes, and had little enthusiasm for such combat, are filled with fiery enthusiasm for their present enterprise. More than that, they have had the best of training. Italy has been getting ready for war for ten months. She has observed, and doubtless profited by, all the lessons that have cost the Germans, Austrians, Russians, French and British so much to learn. She has mastered the new trench warfare methods, the use of scouting aeroplanes, and the motor car for transport purposes; she knows the tremendous part that artillery plays, the need of vast quantities of ammunition; she has made ready in these and other respects, while mobilizing her forces of nearly 2,000,000 men and training them to a fighting edge. It would be incredible if such an army, thus prepared and enthusiastic, and supported by a united nation, should not strike effective blows, and wage war with as clever strategy as the government has shown in its diplomatic negotiations.

A few days will reveal what that strategy is. It might be expected that the Italians will strike directly for their ultimate object—the redemption of the Italian parts of Austrian territory. But the Austrian frontier is strongly defended by forts and armies. It would be a huge task to break through the trenches and guns that guard Trentino and Trieste, though the seizure of Istria and the Dalmatian islands would be easier. Italy, however, may ignore this tempting bait for the present, as France has largely ignored and postponed the redemption of Alsace and Lorraine. There are other quarters in which the Italian arms can be of more immediate use. It may suffice to threaten the Austrian frontier, in order to keep a large force of Austrians and Germans inactive there, thus relieving somewhat the pressure of the Germanic allies on the Russian center around Pzemyel, and then deal the real blows elsewhere.

The most obvious place for the Italians to strike, if they are to cooperate fully with the allies, is at the Dardanelles. The small British-French expeditionary force has fought hard, and lost heavily. It certainly needs re-inforcements, and can ill spare them from France. Italy, by landing 100,000 or 200,000 men on the Gallipoli peninsula could greatly hasten the opening of the straits, the capture of Constantinople, the reduction of the Turks to impotence, the opening of Russia for the admission of the guns and ammunition she so sorely needs, and the consequent stiffening of Russian resistance against the enemy.

Another possibility is the sending of an army to attack the Austrians on their flank, in co-operation with the Serbians and Montenegrins. Such an expedition would naturally be attractive to Italy, because of her Balkan interests, and her eager desire to strengthen her moral hold on the Balkan states. It would also be the least costly method for an Austrian invasion.

A third possibility is the dispatching of a big force to France, to aid the allies on the western front. It seems unlikely, however, that Italy will take such a step at this time, though she may do so eventually if France asks for help.

It is a new Italy that is thus entering the war of the nations. Hers, more than any other, is literally "a people's war." The people have driven king and cabinet to the fatal step. The Italy that found unity in 1870, under Victor Emmanuel II, seeks more complete unity now under Victor Emmanuel III. The new Italy is to gather under her wings all her children, and to be a self-respecting world-power, co-equal in dignity with the other powers. The Adriatic, instead of being an "Austrian lake," as it is practically now, because there is only one real harbor on Italy's eastern coast, is to become an "Italian lake." And the thousand-year-old grudge against Austria, ingrained in the Italian spirit by oppression and by the mutual incompatibility of the Germanic and Latin races, is to be avenged. At least, these are the dreams of Italy. Their accomplishment will require rivers of blood, but Italy seems to have counted the cost.

United Italy In War.

(Philadelphia Record.)

There will be a good deal of natural curiosity to see how modern Italy fares in war—assuming, of course, that she is thoroughly in earnest in her vigorous antagonism to Austria-Hungary. As a united nation Italy dates back only to 1870, when she secured Rome as her capital, and in the 45 intervening years she has been engaged in warfare only twice, the disastrous Abyssinian experience, which was a cause of great mortification, and the conquest of Tripoli in 1911, when Turkey was unable to make an effective opposition.

It would not be fair to judge Italian soldiers by the events of 1866 and 1848, when they clashed with Austrians, or even those of 1859, when, with the aid of the French, they were more successful against their old enemies. In those days Italy was a small country, without resources, and quite lacking in that homogeneity which has since been attained. North and South were divided in sentiment, and the royal house of Savoy had not that united devotion which is now so enthusiastically given to it.

Very different will be the army which united Italy will now put in the field—large in numbers, well equipped, admirably trained and inspired by the hatred of the dual monarchy which the memory of long years of oppression and cruelty has kept warm. For all practical purposes it will be the first appearance of a new nation in European warfare, and its addition to the cause of the allies is not unlikely to have momentous results. If the stories of Italian preparation are reliable there will be no repetition of the battles of Navara and Custoza.

Eighty-First Assembly.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

"The Republicans of Ohio condemn the present state executive for his assumption of autocratic powers; for his usurpation of the legislative functions," declared the Ohio platform upon which Frank B. Willis and the eighty-first general assembly were elected last fall. The legislature has now recessed; only a few hours' work remains for the closing session next week. It is possible to see how well the administration has fulfilled last fall's pledges.

In the first place, then, no governor in the history of the state has more completely "usurped the legislative functions" than has Mr. Willis in the last few weeks of the present session. The supposed offense for which Republicans last year condemned James M. Cox, his successor, has committed in three-fold measure. Intelligent critics, however, will find no cause for complaint in this, since it merely confirms their forecast made before and after the governor's election.

It would be as easy as it would be thankless to point out discrepancies between promises and performances. For instance, the workmen's compensation was to be liberalized and the state highway department denatured; it not abolished. Greater economy in appropriations was to be practiced. "Laws for the moral protection and physical development of our women workers" were to be enacted.

Few assemblies quite live up to their advance notices. In one pre-eminence respect, however, the eighty-first assembly has lived up to the leaders' expectations of its friends. Governor and legislature were elected on a platform of destruction. They have destroyed. "Rippers" constitute a large part of the winter's important work.

The agricultural department has been torn asunder. The tax machinery has been shattered. The liquor licensing machinery has been thrown on the scrap heap. Fortunately, the attempt to visit similar havoc on the school code was thwarted.

A measure of home rule has been established in both liquor and taxation matters; in the one case by throwing the saloons back into local politics and in the other by turning again to the worn-out theory that satisfactory results in the appraisal of property can be secured by elected assessors. Both these new laws look backward. They ignore the clear lesson of experience.

Elected to undo the work of two years ago, the assembly has performed that part of its work efficiently. About the best that can be said is that it might have done worse.

Incidentally, the conduct of Governor Willis in forcing the legislature to carry out his will throws an interesting sidelight on the complaint, voiced in certain partisan quarters, that because Woodrow Wilson was elected a minority president he was not justified in putting through a decisive program in congress. For it will be remembered that Frank B. Willis was elected a minority governor.

Spirit of the Press

Where Will It Stop?

The center of population has moved steadily westward for more than a hundred years without being deflected either to the north or south. It might be expected that the development of some section of the country would have drawn the mystical point far from the horizontal, but such has not been the case. The wonderful regularity of the movement of the line westward indicates at a glance the steady movement of the population. —The Christian Herald.

Fortifications—O. K.

General Goethals, who ought to know, says that "the fortifications in the United States are all right; they have been built properly and are among the best to be found." Not in a thousand years could a naval fleet force a well-constructed seacoast defense. Coming on top of Admiral Dewey's recent statement that our navy is now more efficient than ever before, this seems a little rough on our war alarmists. Still, the undoubted numerical insufficiency of the army is left to them if they will only hammer away upon that point and impress it upon Congress they will be doing good service. —Philadelphia Record.

Where East Seems West.

Those who have crossed the line into the southern regions of our globe are aware that in Chile the sun seems to rise in the west and set in the east. In spite of knowing the contrary to be the fact, it is well-nigh impossible to shake off the strange illusion. And this because our senses conspire to tell us the reverse. As in north temperate latitudes, the sun never attains its zenith in its Phœbus-driven course, we instinctively face the sunward half of the sky when we look south and below the equator, and we are beguiled in our deception by the old winds which blow as at home from the opposite quarter. To all our senses north is south, and south, north. The sun rising on our right to travel daily from west to east in a thoroughly upsetting way. —Youths' Companion.

Dropping Bombs.

We think that the general feeling is that there ought not to be any dropping of bombs from airships on any towns that are not at the time under siege. This has been done by Germans, French and English alike. In all cases there was the plea that the attack was directed against naval stations, troop trains, lines of communications or public buildings. But these bombs cannot be controlled and often non-combatants—sometimes women and children—have been killed by them. This method of making war ought to be abandoned. As it is now, public opinion virtually says that a nation may fight, but not so hard as it can and not with all the forces at its command. Does it not all tend to prove that mankind has really outgrown war, at least when considered from the intellectual point of view? —Indianapolis News.

A VACATION IN TABLET FORM

"Fresh Air, Rest and Sunshine." That is the world's greatest prescription. Those elements make for the kind of health which laughs which does things. Perhaps, you may not get all this in the sunny outdoors. But, you can get a substitute. Because, science has found that health is based on nerves and that nerves need glycerophosphates. This is life-element at its maximum in Truette, which you can get in Tablet form at your druggist's.

To Build Up Your Nerves

If you could get away from your daily toil for a month, you would eat better, sleep better and work better. Why? Because, the rest and outdoor would build up your nerves. But, why not build them up at home? Just take a few Truette Tablets. If you are like other people, Truette will speed up your physical power. Truette will increase your health—even if you are already healthy. And, if you are run-down, Truette will do most for you. Perhaps it may save you from early death.

To Get Physically Fit

When you build up your nerves, you tone up your whole body. You strengthen your heart action. You improve your digestion. You put your whole system into better running order. The blood becomes richer and feeds the muscle tissues. Real, solid, fresh then takes the place of flabby fat. If you are underweight, your body increases toward the normal. If you were to take a month's vacation to better your health, the cost would be tremendous. Save money—try Truette. If Truette does not make you feel great, you get your money back.

TREACHERY

OF ITALY DENOUNCED IN SCATHING TERMS BY EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA

In an Address to His Troops, Which Makes Direct Appeal to Their Patriotism.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

London, May 24.—A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam says the Vienna Zeitung publishes the following autograph letter from Emperor Francis Joseph to Count Karl Stuerghk:

"Dear Count Stuerghk—I request you to make public the attached manifesto to my troops:

"Vienna, May 23, Francis Joseph to his troops:

"The king of Italy has declared war on me. Perfidy whose like history does not know was committed by the kingdom of Italy against both allies. After an alliance of more than 30 years' duration, during which it was able to increase its territorial possessions and develop its self to an unthought of flourishing condition, Italy abandoned us in our hour of danger and went over with flying colors into the camp of our enemies.

"We did not menace Italy; did not curtail her authority; did not attack her honor or interests. We always responded loyally to the duties of our alliance and afforded her our protection when she took the field. We have done more. When Italy directed covetous glances across our frontier, we in order to maintain peace and our alliance relation, were resolved on great and painful sacrifices which particularly grieved our paternal heart. But then, during the month of May, the covetousness of Italy, which believed the moment should be used, was not to be appeased.

"My armies have victoriously withstood mighty armies in the North in ten months of this gigantic conflict in most loyal comradeship of arms with our illustrious ally. A new and treacherous enemy in the south is to you no new enemy. Great memories of Novara, Morteno and Lissa, which constituted the pride of my youth; the spirit of Radezky, Archduke Albrecht and Tagethoff, which continues to live in my land and sea forces, guarantees that in the south also we shall successfully defend the frontiers of the monarchy.

"I salute my battle-tried troops who are insured to victory. I rely on them and their leaders. I rely on my people for whose unexhausted spirit of sacrifice my most paternal thanks are due. I pray the Almighty to bless our colors and take under his gracious protection our just cause."

Granville

(Special to The Advocate)

Granville, May 24.—The Spring Carnival given by the gymnastics classes of Shepardsen college last Saturday afternoon under the direction of Miss Annabel Bradstreet, was one of the brilliant successes of the year, despite the rain which made the charming outdoor setting impossible. Cleveland Hall was found to be an acceptable substitute for the Shepardsen campus and the fascinating exhibition was witnessed by several hundred enthusiastic spectators whose pleasure found expression in tumultuous applause. Miss Bradstreet has been notably successful in her class work during the year, and the young ladies in the final exhibition were a credit to her teaching. Their own appreciation of their efficiency took the form of five dozen pink carnations presented after the close of the exercises. In the opening grand march the seniors, in caps and gowns, formed an admirable background to the attractive color scheme furnished in the costumes of the dancers—and the graceful evolutions of the various figures elicited rounds of applause. The Highland Fling, by the Sophomores, was persistently applauded, but as they failed to respond to the determined snore, no further effort was made by the audience to recall the performers. In succeeding numbers, which were all beautifully presented. The figures used in the Maypole dance were composed by Miss Bradstreet and were unusually graceful and effective. Below is the program

PART I.

1. Grand March—All Shepardsen.

2. Highland Fling—Sophomore Gymnasium Class.

3. Weaving Dance—Freshman Gymnasium Class.

4. Iris Waltz—Junior Gymnasium Class.

The Shepardsen tennis tournament booked for Saturday was postponed on account of the rain. DOWNFALL

OF AUSTRIAN WAR MINISTER REPORTED BECAUSE HE FAILED IN NEGOTIATIONS

Between that Country and Italy Causing Declaration of War—Not Confirmed in London.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Rome, May 23.—Via Paris, May 24.—Reports which have been received here that Baron Burian, the Austrian foreign minister, has resigned, are generally accepted as true and have caused wide comment. His reported fall is attributed to the failure of the Austro-Italian negotiations and the declaration of war by Italy.

The newspapers point out that Count von Berchtold, his predecessor, refused to accept a German suggestion regarding the necessity of granting concessions to Italy. Kajetan Mery von Kapos-Mere, who retired as Austrian ambassador to Italy, said to have been obliged to give up his post because he firmly maintained that Italy never would take up arms against the central empires. A similar stand was taken by Baron Burian in direct opposition to the advice of Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador.

A report that Baron Burian had offered his resignation to Emperor Francis Joseph, but that the monarch had refused to accept it, came from Geneva Friday. This may be the basis for the belief in Rome that he has given up his office. No confirmation of this report has been received in London.

RESIGNATION IS REPORTED IN PARIS.

Paris, May 24.—A Havas dispatch from Rome says the Corriere Della Sera announces the resignation of Baron Burian, the Austrian foreign minister and says that he will be succeeded by Count Tisza, the Hungarian premier.

Gladys Bancroft Walker who died May 24, 1914.

Oh! dearest, sweetest Gladys since thou hast passed away

It seems that that its one year ago but only yesterday

When ever we speak thy name we loved our eyes with tears are wet

Ah Gladys how we loved you and love cannot forget

Our Savior took you from us it was his holy will

And left in our hearts a vacancy which no one else can fill

But in our saddest moments one happy thought holds sway,

We will meet again dear Gladys and be happy some sweet day.

Lovingly by, AUNTIE.

84 NORTH THIRD STREET

In Milady's Boudoir

BY GWEN BEARA.

The neck and chin are two of the most beautiful features, that is, if they are beautiful, and most women can make them so, if they are in earnest and half try. The neck, must be neither too fat nor too lean. To correct either condition one should resort to exercise and massage. It may seem strange that similar actions have apparently the opposite effects of encouraging the formation of fat and of helping to dissipate it. Nevertheless it is true that skin friction and exercises cause a healthier condition of the tissues.

When massaging or exercising a sitting position will most likely be found more comfortable, especially until one grows accustomed to the movements, for there may be a tendency to dizziness. Plenty of fresh air circulating in the room is necessary while exercising.

To begin, sit erect, with shoulders thrown back, chin uplifted and with the head bent as far forward as possible. Now bend the head from right to left ten times; then the neck should be exercised with a rotating movement of the head. This is done by raising the head to an upright position, from here it is bent to the right, continued to center, front and down, then to the left and finally to an upright position. In this manner the chin is made to describe a circle six or eight times. Reverse the movement to the left and repeat equal number of times.

These movements are valuable, because they will reduce, or increase the size of neck or chin. They also affect the circulation of the blood to and from the head, often curing a severe headache. Exercising these muscles will also remove certain material and acquired deformities of the neck and chin.

There used to be a time when our dresses, or at least the dresses of our mothers, reached to the floor, or so nearly so that a brush braid or coarse binding on the bottom hem was necessary to preserve the fabric. In those days if the tiniest bit of ankle showed it was a cue for a woman to blush. Now we have become quite accustomed to showing our ankles and woman's right to them has been fully recognized, consequently pretty ankles are greatly to be desired and add much to our beauty.

To improve the shapeliness of ankles, exercises and massages will do wonders. It will be found that most ankles which are unattractive, or not quite as shapely as the possessor might wish, either lack sufficient flesh or are too fleshy. If your ankles are a little stout you can reduce them in a month by means of a little exercise morning and night for ten minutes. Remove the shoes and stockings and cross the knees so the support is removed from one ankle. Thrust out the foot and move it around from the ankle in a twisting motion, then bend it up and down, making sure that all this is done with the ankle bone. When one foot becomes tired shift position and exercise the other ankle.

For the thin maid who wants to be plump there is nothing so good as rest. Take ten minutes every little while and in a loose, lounging robe, sink into a chair and let out every ounce of energy. Relax the fingers, wrists, arms, feet, ankles and legs. Drop the head heavily to right, left and down and try to be as limp as the proverbial dish-rag.

Your Boys and Girls

Mother's often say in extenuation of the bad condition of the baby's teeth that it has had bad teeth from the beginning. Except in the case of constitutional disease and weakness, this is incredible. The baby's teeth come in strong and white.

If the teeth turn discolored and crumble, one of three conditions exist. They are not properly cleaned or the diet given the child is not right or the teeth are not used. The diet should be looked into by someone who understand the proper proportions of starch and minerals, of meat and vegetables, or mush food and hard of saccharins and acid.

The baby laid carelessly to sleep may grow up with misshapen ears. I have seen babies lying in bed with one ear curled forward. The wee baby is such a tender bit of flesh and blood. Let it get into a bad habit of sleeping and it may be marked for life.

Just how to give baby the morning bath will doubtless be welcomed by many young mothers. Bring the little one in to be bathed one half hour before feeding time and as near nine in the morning as possible. Lay him on your knees with his feet toward the bowl, and before he is undressed, wash and wipe his face, hands and ears.

Now turn the baby until his head is over the bowl, supporting the neck and head with the left hand and resting the feet in your lap. Add cold water to that in the bowl until it is just warm; now put soap on the wash cloth and rub the little head until there is a good lather. Then rinse with plenty of water. Dry with the towel and lay him again in your lap.

Now add warm water to the bowl, remove the baby's clothes and soap him thoroughly. Cover him with the bath apron and add cold water to the tub until the water is comfortable to your elbow. Uncover the baby, slip your arm under his head, and while supporting his neck on your wrist, hold him firmly under his left arm at the shoulder. Grasp both ankles with your right hand, and lower him gently, feet first, into the water. Rinse him gently, then let him enjoy himself for five or ten minutes, then carefully lift him on your lap the same way you put him in.

Every Day Etiquette

"I understand that a man precedes a girl in passing through a door, but who takes the lead when the door opens outward like a screen door?" was James' query.

"No matter if the door does swing outward the man still takes precedence," advised his friend.

"During what days of the week is it proper to make social calls?" asked Miss Jones.

"Unless a woman has certain receiving days, it is permissible to call upon her any day between the hours of 2 and 5 in the afternoon. If she has regular days, they will be shown on her card and then you must call on those days," replied her mother.

Evening Dress for Matrons

FASHION CAMERA

We were threatened as early as in the spring by the most highly approved Parisian couturiers that full, short skirts would prevail and when they arrived we gladly accepted them without protest. Were they not a delightful change from the long, tight skirt and just the thing for tailors and dance frocks? And then the American matron hesitated—as an evening frock for her debutante daughter, well and good, but for the dignified hostess, who demanded a trained reception gown—never.

As a result, we have the gown illustrated, designed and worn recently by an American society woman. The novelty is in the train. When she desires, the woman may appear in training gown with all the dignity that social etiquette demands, and when the dance music starts, she may gently lift the train and indulge to her heart's content, with all the comfort of the short, but not too voluminous skirt.

The gown was of white goldenrod satin with the skirt scantily gathered at a slightly high waste line. The skirt finished in a straight train, which was looped under at about the knees, and this gave the extra fullness. An elaborate garniture of crystal and pearl beads draped the bodice of white daphne silk. The crystal effect was also worked out on the sleeves and in the hair and slipper ornaments, and a handsome string of pearls completed the attractive costume.

Belgium has the honor of originating the school savings bank system. Prof. Laurent of Ghent, in 1873, began the work.

At 9:15 sharp the column will move west on north side of square and march in the usual manner around the square and east to First street and halt to allow old soldiers to take autos or cars. The column will then take up the march to Cedar Hill cemetery. Halt near the gate to allow those who ride out to join the column. The march will then be resumed, halting the first half of the column to the east of the mound and the second half to the west side of the mound.

All organizations that take part in the decorative ceremonies will be turned over to Maj. F. G. Steele, who will direct these ceremonies. There are nearly 650 soldier graves scattered over the forty acres of Cedar Hill cemetery which has been divided into thirteen divisions and mapped to aid the captains of decorating companies in their work.

The graves of each section will be who visit Columbus from every point of the country, and particularly from the cities in Ohio.

The new home stands in the center of one of the most beautiful pieces of ground in Columbus, just west of Memorial hall. The grounds alone cost the lodge in the neighborhood of $15,000. A beautiful sunken garden will be one of the outside features. The home itself will cost more than $200,000 and is of beautiful architecture. Its interior decorations are said to surpass those of any Elks' home in the United States. In addition to the lodge room, which will accommodate 1,000 persons, there are numerous parlors for ladies and gentlemen, with every comfort and convenience conceivable.

For the jubilee, East Main street will be gloriously illuminated at night. The whole vicinity will be decorated. The entire old home will be given up to the various features of the jubilee and there will be a big spectacular performance in the lodge room—a different one every night. There will be sixty-two distinct features incident to the jubilee, each one a spectacle in itself.

News in Brief

INHERITED NERVOUSNESS

The causes of nervous disorders are of two kinds, predisposing and exciting. Heredity is a predisposing cause. A nervous parent is very liable to have a nervous child. But even with this predisposition the child will not necessarily develop any form of nervous disease without an exciting cause. It may not develop during childhood at all, but through life a person with an inherited predisposition to nervousness is an easier victim of all forms of nervous disorders than one without it.

Worry, overwork, overstudy and excesses of all kinds are exciting causes and should be avoided by those who know themselves to have inherited a nervous disposition. Thin blood and a general run-down condition of the system are also to be avoided by such people. Be moderate in everything, avoid worry, keep the blood rich and red and the general health built up with a non-alcoholic tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and avoid nervous breakdown.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a general tonic with a special action on the nerves and relieve and correct many forms of nervous trouble. Your own druggist sells them. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free booklet, "Nervous Disorders, A Method of Home Treatment."

COLORADO

(Continued from Page 1.) nor Ammons." Mr. Bowers said, "consisted of bringing every possible influence to get him to bring out the militia to protect life and property."

Mr. Bowers agreed with Chairman Walsh that Sheriff Jeff Farr of Huertano county, was "the king of the county." He said he objected to Farr's political and business tactics, but that the coal company had been for years connected with Farr and his organization.

"The Colorado Fuel and Iron company," he said, "was connected with this organization; was a part of it. The officers of the company did it, I don't deny. They were working with Farr."

Later Mr. Bowers said the company and Farr had a saloon connection.

"They were both in the saloon business, weren't they?" asked the chairman.

"Yes," said the witness.

Under cross-examination by Commissioner Weinstock, Mr. Bowers testified that after he joined the company he eliminated the connection with Farr. He explained that in the early days of the company an officer of the concern, now dead, organized a partnership between the company and Farr for the conduct of saloons in the mining camps, which were used as employment bureaus.

"This pernicious and damnable system," said Mr. Bowers, "was in force when I became an officer of the company. I fought it. The system is as strong as Tammany Hall. They control every man that is put up for office. They did at the last election."

Mr. Bowers said he had fought for state prohibition in Colorado as a means of eliminating the system.

dispatch from its correspondent at Madrid who says the German and the Austro-Hungarian representatives at the Italian courts at the Vatican are leaving Rome tonight, having entrusted the interests of their countries to the Spanish ambassador in Rome.

URGING SWEDEN TO ATTACK RUSSIA

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) London, May 24.—A message to The Exchange Telegraph company from Copenhagen says, pamphlets are being distributed throughout Sweden to further a movement for the intervention of that country in the war against Russia. These pamphlets urge that Sweden step in at once to secure the independence of Finland, by an attack on Russia or by other means.

ENTHUSIASM IN VENICE GREET PROCLAMATION

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Venice, Via London, May 24.—The Italian population of the Trentino, according to dispatches from Trento, is fleeing into the country from towns and villages. They are compelled to walk along the railway tracks because all highways have been barricaded with planks, tree trunks and piles of stones.

Gendarmes are reported to be using force to compel compliance with proclamations calling to the colors all classes of reservists between the ages of 17 and 30. Troops visit houses, chiefly at night, it is said, and carry off by force all men within the prescribed ages. The Austrian authorities are reported to be making an effort to direct public wrath against Italy by posting manifestos affirming that the levy has been made necessary only by the treachery of Italy.

The order from the Italian government calling for a general mobilization, was greeted with intense enthusiasm in Venice. It was greeted with a great popular demonstration, crowds marching through the streets for many hours, almost to a man, offered the government their services and the use of their craft. Persons in all walks of life pledged their services to the Red Cross and gifts of all kinds were received by that organization.

Expressions of regret are being heard on every side that the nation is unable at present to assist persons of Italian blood or sympathies who are being arrested wholesale by the Austrian authorities in Trent, Trieste and Dalmatia. Intense indignation has been caused by reports that thousands of Italians have been detained at stations along the Austrian and German frontiers where they have been subjected to ill-treatment.

A trainload of Italians arriving at Cormons, near Goritz, are reported to have been driven into a field by Austrian gendarmes, where they were forced to remain all night in a heavy rain without shelter or food. Several children are said to have died because of this experience. The women and children were permitted to cross into Italian territory the next day, but all the men were detained.

ITALY DEFENDS HER CONDUCT, AND DENIES BREAKING ALLIANCE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Rome, May 23.—Via Paris, May 24.—The official statement published at Vienna charging that Italy did not adhere to the principles of the Triple Alliance treaty is declared by the Giornale d'Italia to be entirely incorrect and misleading. The Italian position as summarized by the newspaper follows:

"The situation of Italy became intolerable when Austria and German aggression against Serbia caused the European conflagration without giving previous notification to Rome."

"Italy legitimately undertook to protect her own interests, according to the rights granted her by the triple alliance treaty."

"Austria, despite German good office, blindly and obstinately resisted Italy's just demands, rendering inevitable acute antagonism. Therefore Austria alone is responsible for the new war, although Germany is not entirely blameless but Italy did everything humanly possible to prevent it."

"It is exceedingly strange that Austria now asserts article 7 of the triple alliance treaty referred to Turkey and not to the Balkans, although it contains the phrase 'status quo in the Balkan region.' The meaning of this phrase has been discussed since August 1914 between the Rome and Vienna governments. The latter with the complete agreement of Berlin, ended by adhering without condition to the Italian interpretation that it meant not only Turkey but also the states in the Balkan peninsula."

A Simple Constipation Remedy—Try It

For quick, positive relief from constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, inactive liver, bad breath, and all the ills that follow them nothing as yet has been found to quite equal that old, time-tried compound of may-apple root, aloes and jalap.

Recognized as one of the standard remedies, physicians daily prescribe it, many preferring it to all others, and especially calomel. They like it because, being purely vegetable, it's not nearly as harsh as calomel; it never gripes; is never followed by any of the dangerous after-effects that so often result from the use of calomel.

This standard remedy, ready-prepared, may now be had under the name of Sentinel Laxative Tablets. Be sure you get the original Sentinels, put up in the box that has the picture of the soldier on it. In this form it is much more convenient and easier to take than in the old-fashioned powder or capsule form—cheaper, too; a 10c box of Sentinels should last one several weeks. A physician's sample package (4 doses) free to any one answering this advertisement. The Sentinel Remedies Co., 801 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

GIRLS RETURN WITH RELATIVE; BEFORE COURT

The two young girls in West Newark, Pearl Lovell, 17, and Mabel Bradford, 16, have arrived home after having been missing since last Tuesday evening.

The girls telegraphed their relatives from Charleston, W. Va., and Saturday a sister of Miss Lovell left for Charleston and brought the girls home Sunday.

The girls had quite an adventure since leaving Newark. They left here in a taxi-car, were driven to the four-mile lock west of the city and there met Howard Carlisle and Robert Butt of Hebron, O., and left with them in an automobile for Lancaster. The boys took the girls to a hotel and paid for their lodging and breakfast and then returned home. The next day the girls left for Charleston, intending to try and secure positions. They did not succeed and their money giving out they notified relatives that they were ready to come home.

The young men in the case, Carlisle and Butt, were brought into juvenile court Monday by Probation Officer John Dwyer and were charged with contributing to the delinquency of the girls. The girls also were brought in to court and Judge Hunter, after hearing the evidence, fined the young men $25 and the costs each and gave the girls a suspended sentence to the Girls' Industrial school at Delaware.

GENTRY BROS. SHOWING IN THE CITY TODAY

The Gentry Brothers show arrived in the city Sunday morning from Mansfield and by noon had all the tents up with the exception of the main circus tent, the poles being erected and the canvass ready to pull up early Monday. The menagerie tent was kept open from 2:30 in the afternoon until dusk a large banner informing the public that everyone was invited to inspect the animals free of charge and hundreds took advantage of the invitation. Monday morning a parade was given at 10:30 o'clock and it was very creditable, there being a number of open cases, many riders, two bands and two callopes, the rear being brought up by three elephants and several clowns. A performance was given this afternoon and there will be another one tonight at 8 o'clock.

NERV-WORTH ENDORSED BY THOSE WHO KNOW WHAT GOOD MEDICINE IS.

Nerv-Worth, the marvelous up-builder of disordered nerves, which continues to be in enormous demand where introduced, is a "patent medicine" in the sense that it is registered in the U. S. patent office, but to those who prefer doctor's prescriptions it should be reassuring to say that Nerv-Worth is a doctor's prescription too, it having been prescribed for a Detroit man by Dr. Ferdinand Theilbach of Bonn, Germany.

Moreover Nerv-Worth has been tried and endorsed by skilful and well-known physicians. Here are two such cases. The first endorsement came from Dr. N. B. Ferguson, of Huntington, W. Va., in these words:

"Nerv-Worth is truly a great remedy. I have tested it professionally in my practice and actually and practically in my family. It gives me pleasure to recommend it to the profession and also to the general public. It, in my opinion, will prove a great boon to sufferers from the troubles for which it is intended to be an ameliorative remedy."

And Dr. Geo. W. Adams, also of Huntington, says:

"I suffered with nervous indigestion and all the ills originating from such conditions. Have been taking Nerv-Worth for one week and can say my conditions are much improved and I can recommend Nerv-Worth to any one suffering with neurasthenia."

Buy Nerv-Worth of the T. J. Evans drug store, Newark. Only $1.00 a bottle. Money back if it fails to help.

SUBMARINE F-4 IS SLOWLY LIFTED TO NEAR SURFACE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Honolulu, May 24.—The submarine F-4, which sank in Honolulu harbor two months ago with a loss of twenty-one lives, has been raised to within 108 feet of the surface, divers reported today. They viewed the submarine through a glass-bottom box, after raising it 26 feet higher yesterday. It is thought that the F-4 will be brought to the surface on Thursday.

VEGETABLE CALOMEL

Vegetable calomel, extract of the root of the old-fashioned may-apple plant, does not salivate. As a liver stimulant, it's great. It's a perfect substitute for ordinary calomel (mercury); in fact, it's better because its action is gentle instead of severe and irritating—and it leaves no mean, disagreeable after-effects. Physicians recognize this and prescribe may-apple root (podyphyllin, they call it) daily.

Combined with four other standard, all-vegetable remedies, may-apple root may now be had at most any druggist's in convenient sugar-coated tablet form by asking for Sentinels Laxatives. If you forget the name, ask for the box that has the picture of the soldier on it.

These tablets are small, easy to take and are really wonderful little performers.

They quickly clean out the poisons that are causing you headache, constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, bad breath and coated tongue.

They are mild. They never gripe. And they are a bowel tonic as well as a cleanser and liver regulator. A 10c box should last one several weeks. A Physician's trial package (4 doses) will be mailed you free if you write mentioning this advertisement.

Labor Memorial Day Is Celebrated by the Local Unions Sunday Afternoon

The weather was all that could be desired Sunday for the celebration of Labor Memorial Day, and as a consequence the members of organized labor were greeted with a large crowd at the high school auditorium where the program was successfully carried out.

The members of the various locals affiliated with the Trades and Labor Assembly met at their headquarters and the parade was formed in front of the Assembly Hall in West Park Place and headed by the Buckeye band marched around the square and then to the auditorium in West Main street.

The unions represented were the American Paint Glassworkers, Bakers, Barbers, Butchers, Bottle Blowers, Brewery Workers, Carpenters, Cigar-makers, Electrical Workers, Ice Handlers, Metal Trades, Molders, No. 207; Molders, No. 152; Musicians, Mechanics, Painters and Paperhangers, Plumbers, Retail Clerks, Shoe Workers, Stage Workers, Stationary Engineers, Sheet Metal Workers, Teamsters, Typographical Union and the Tailors. There were large delegations in line and upon arrival at the school building all passed into the auditorium while the band rendered a selection. The standards were placed upon the stage and the audience was seated by a corps of ushers under the efficient direction of H. E. Watson.

The stage had been nicely decorated by a committee of which Wm. Kane was chairman. There was a profusion of potted plants, ferns and palms and a handsome bouquet of cut flowers adorned the speaker's stand, while the American colors were everywhere in evidence. At promptly 2 o'clock the Buckeye band rendered "America," after which Rev. Charles H. Stull asked the invocation.

The address of welcome was given by W. S. Coen, chairman of the committee of arrangements. He welcomed all on behalf of organized labor and explained the object of the meeting which was sacred to the memory of the deceased members of organized labor of the city. 137 of whom have passed into the Great Beyond. Mr. Coen concluded his address by announcing a hymn by the Plymouth quartet, whose members are Carl Jones, W. D. Walker, M. C. Rock and John Mazyer. These young men have splendid voices and their rendition of the numbers which had been assigned them was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Altha Fields was the accompanist.

President W. M. Morgan of the Trades and Labor Assembly, was next introduced by the chairman and delivered the opening address. Mr. Morgan was in splendid form and his address was one of the features. He said:

"The American Federation of Labor established a beautiful and appropriate custom in setting apart a day to be designated as Labor's Memorial Day. We love to gather on this day to honor and pay tributes of respect to our departed brothers who were so willing to sacrifice their personal interests in order to establish a movement in the interest of humanity, a movement that was developed in a manner that secured for us improved living and social conditions.

"As we turn back today to the records of memory and unfold the many kind acts and noble deeds of those of our brothers who have gone on before, we are wont to strew their graves with flowers and testify our appreciation for the virtues they illustrated in this life.

"We call the roll of the departed, but there is no response. They have answered the roll call of the Supreme Ruler of the universe. We no longer enjoy the benefits of their wise counsel and social relations. We, however, may possess on social terms the virtues they left as a heritage for the living. May we ever exalt their high ideals and inspire the practice of their noble virtues. They lived and labored in their time so that what came to them as seed would come to posterity as fruit of enjoyment and blessings. Their supreme thoughts were to advance the cause of humanity by protecting the weaker class against the strong and to secure the freedom that is so beautifully expressed in the Declaration of Independence.

"It was through united effort that they promoted the cause of industrial and social reform. We observe that unity is necessary to successful organization, that it brings harmony of thought, singleness of purpose and each others' interests that no self-seeking person can understand or enjoy. It endures in friendship and a magnanimity that binds heart to heart in worthy efforts for the alleviation of suffering and the tendering of helpful sympathy to others. It is to the association with others that man owes his highest development and progress. Deprived of society he soon deteriorates into a negative quality, but given wholesome association and environment he will rise to sublime heights. Companionship is the off-spring of social intercourse and the first step toward the cultivation and development of that mysterious something—the immortal soul.

"Every living person contains within him standards or laws for his growth and development and the heights of their unseen standards are felt and experienced by all members of the human family. There is in us an intense longing to immerse from the conditions that surround us to higher positions in life. It is, therefore, important for us to set our standards for development upon the highest plane within our conception. We usually remain far behind the standards we set, but our effort to reach them is the mysterious compelling force of instinct for self-preservation and to reach higher positions than that in which we live.

"It is through ideals that we are developing and perfecting the labor movement. Our impulses towards ideals are inherent in us, of which we are not necessarily conscious, as there is always much that is unconscious even with the deepest and closest thinkers. In order to secure the greatest blessings in this life it is necessary for us to live pure lives and establish ideas that will cause us to rise to nobler and more sublime heights.

"The examples set by those we have gathered today to honor should cause us to devote our energy towards benefiting others and to live lives of usefulness.

"The certainty that this life cannot be long and that it may be shorter than nature allows should cause us to view it from its relation to the life to come. The old must die, the young may die. The wheels of time are rolling relentlessly onward crushing beneath their weight the old, the young, the rich, the poor, without distinction or favor. Life and death pursue each other in quick succession. The shortness of life should awaken us to the necessity that this life should be spent in preparation for the future. A short life is sufficient for us to manifest ourselves as men of honor and virtue.

"The greatest joy we can give to our departed brothers is that they lived lives of usefulness and that their virtues are living examples that are guiding us upward and onward toward that Unknown Country that lies beyond where peace and happiness for eternity is assured."

The Plymouth quartet next rendered a selection, and this was followed by the roll call of deceased members by the secretary, A. J. Bingham. As the name of each member who has passed to the silent majority was read a little girl, dressed in white, deposited a flower at the foot of a white cross erected on the stage. At the same time as each name was called a bell chimed in response. The arrangement was very effective and also impressive.

Colonel George H. Hamilton was next introduced by the chairman to deliver the address for labor's memorial. Mr. Hamilton, who is himself a member of the Elm Glassworkers, is an orator of no mean local reputation, and the colored waxen eloquent throughout his address as he told of the struggles of labor to better its condition. He compared the members of the various labor organizations to those who are winning renown upon the battlefield, stating that all heroes are not found upon the battlefield, but there were legions of heroes toiling away for small wages in order that they might raise their little families, dress them, clothe them, and give the children an education. Colonel Hamilton said:

"You may travel through the Hall of Fame, or pass through the broad avenues of our national capital, and you will not find a monument or a bust dedicated to a single labor leader, but some of them above all others are entitled to recognition for they have done much for humanity and their brother-men."

After eulogizing the men who toil from morning until night in various capacities, who by the sweat of their brow make it possible for communities to exist, the speaker said that today we turn from the turmoil and strife of life to pay a tribute to our departed brothers. He extolled their many good qualities in life and his peroration closed a very brilliant effort.

After the song, "Work, For the Night Is Coming," the audience was dismissed with the benediction pronounced by Rev. Charles H. Stull.

Volcano In Alaska Has Been Active Since Last Friday

(Associated Press Telegram) Seward, Alaska, May 24.—Hikama volcano and an unidentified peak on the west coast of Cook Inlet have been in eruption since Tuesday, according to reports brought by the steamer Alameda today.

Persons who passed the volcano Thursday said dense clouds of smoke were rolling up from the craters. The effect of the volcanoes was noted here Wednesday night when copper-colored clouds were seen to the north. Four slight earthquakes have been felt during the last three months, but are believed to have had no connection with the volcanoes as no shock was felt here when the craters became active.
